

Student Success and Well-being Steering Committee
University of Central Florida

MISSION: To unleash the power of collaboration and collective wisdom by bringing together student success administrators and experts from all colleges and units to accelerate the university's progress toward preeminence and AAU-caliber performance.

VISION: While the university is well on its way to delivering on the promise of coordinated care, a strategic approach to student success championed by the Education Advisory Board and a best practice that has already produced results at other institutions, the model and the tools associated with it are not fully developed or utilized. This committee will provide a forum for developing, customizing, and promoting the philosophy and strategy behind our student success movement. Acting in an advisory capacity to the Senior Vice President for Student Success, this Steering Committee will advocate for the best programs, practices, and policies that will advance the student success and well-being objectives articulated in the university's strategic plan.

GOALS: The goal is to move the needle on the university's key performance metrics, including those identified in the strategic plan, Unleashing Potential, as well as the performance-based funding and preeminence metrics used by the Florida Board of Governors to assess university performance. Of all these metrics, our efforts should focus on the two metrics where our performance is significantly below the targets:

- 4-Year Graduation Rate: 65%. Current performance: 55%
- 2-Year Transfer Graduation Rate: 50%. Current performance: 30%.
